

Snapshot 6

Welcome to Lost and Found Snapshot #6 – the bonus issue – not only featuring an inner-city coffee plantation, but also the Port Authority Bus Terminal and some intellectual accessories. Stand by, because we're getting ready to launch Lost and Found Volume 4 – guest edits, unique giveaways and Melbourne secrets pinging into your inbox from June until September.

Cafes

Seven Seeds

Every day, in the back lots of Melbourne and Columbia, Mark Dundon is working to bring us closer to the perfect coffee. It didn't seem possible to increase this city's espresso obsession until Mark opened Brother Baba Budan – the cafe where you can choose between single origin grinds for your takeaway. What next? Are we gonna start growing our own beans?! Um, yes. Mark opens Seven Seeds – an inner-city coffee plantation and roastery – on 1 June. Completely sustainable, this place will get you wired... in the most organic way.

Seven Seeds, 114 Berkeley Street, Carlton. tel: 03 9347 8664.

Brother Baba Budan, 359 Little Bourke Street, Melbourne, tel: 03 9606 0449.

Arts

Tobias Frere-Jones

One day, typography deity Tobias Frere-Jones was walking up 8th Avenue from 42nd Street when he noticed a sign. It said 'Port Authority Bus Terminal'. And at that moment, 'Gotham' was born. From its humble beginnings, this typeface went on to star in Obama's campaign posters. But the story does not end there. Now obsessed with New York's signage, Frere-Jones walks the streets photographing signs for his typographic city map. And he's bringing Melbourne a preview – check out his exhibition at The Narrows until 6 June. The PABT on Flinders Lane.

The Narrows, Level 2, 141 Flinders Lane, Melbourne, tel: 03 9654 1534

Win

Prue Rees-Lee awoke one day and saw a gap in the market. A gap in the shape of philosopher's face on a badge. Enter Philos-O-Face. Perfect resin brooches that allow your lapels to stare at people with looks that say 'I object to the non-empirical use of empirical reasoning'. Get them at the Alphaville city store, or enter to win a set of five by telling us which Simone was Sartre's lady friend. Email us (use the link, don't reply) – including your answer in the subject line – by 5pm, Monday May 10.

Alphaville, 201 Flinders Lane, Melbourne, tel: 03 9663 3002

Eight of the best... live music venues

The Corner, Ding Dong, Pony, East Brunswick Club, The Tote, The Recital Centre, The Toff, Northcote Social Club.

